WARREN IN TO REPAIR

From Manila En Route To 'Frisco.

QUICK AND DEAD ABOARD

A Young Quartermaster in Charge—List of Those Aboard the Transport.

Much to the surprise of everybody the United States transport Warren arrived in this port yesterday afternoon about 2 o'clock from Manila. The Warren had no intention of stopping at Honolulu, and was bound direct for San Francisco, and when she was about five hundred miles north of Honolulu, on her way to the Coast, she made up her mind to pay Honolulu a visit.

It is a very long time since the Warren has been overhauled, and she is in many ways badly in need of repairs. Several of the tubes in her boilers had burned out and were leaking badly. This was the case not long after the vessel had left Manila, but it was thought that she would be able to make the trip to San Francisco without undergoing any repairs, but shortly after the transport had passed north of Honolulu, it was deemed advisable not to risk going any further without first having her boilers attended to. So the Warren put back and came to Honolulu.

When she was sighted yesterday she was mistaken for the Solace, and was reported as such. There was a great crowd on the wharf to see her come in, and all kinds of rumors spread around town as to the cause of her unexpected coming.

She flew the quarantine flag, and the Stars and Stripes were at half-mast when she entered port. This, together with the usual caution exercised by the authorities of allowing people aboard transports, led people to suppose that there was plague aboard the vessel, as it was known that there had been considerable plague in Manila.

But there was nothing of the kind.
The Warren flew the quarantine flag as a sign that she was waiting for the doctor to board her and allow her to dock, and the Stars and Stripes were at half-mast on account of the fact that the Warren has in her hold the bodies of over a hundred men who have met death for their country by fighting Filipino rebels and other diseases in the South.

The first thing this morning, men from the Union Iron Works will go to work on the boilers of the Warren, and it is thought that in four or five days she will be ready to resume her journey to the Coast, with her large number of passengers, the five hundred or more soldiers who are to receive their discharge on arriving at San Francisco, and the earthly remains of those who died under the flag they served.

The Warren sailed from Manila on December 30th, and has experienced rough weather during most of her trip.
Strong head winds and heavy seas served to retard her progress. Added to this she was unable to make the speed that she could have made had she been in smoother waters. The Warren is good for thirteen or fourteen knots when everything is all right with her, but on the run from Manila she lost about two knots an hour. She hasn't been overhauled for nearly a year, and when a vessel cruises around much in southern waters, she very quickly becomes foul and is greatly handicapped as to speed.

The Warren was in San Francisco last about the middle of August. Then she left for China, but her orders were changed when she arrived at Nagasaki and she went to Manila from Manila she went to the southern port of Iloilo, and then back to Manila. She afterwards went to Taku and took the famous fighting Fourteenth Infantry from China back to the Philippines.

Captain F. E. Frazier is her commander, and Captain P. L. Miles, A.
S. E. C. Jackson, A. S. S. S. S. S. S. termaster. Captain Miles is a very young man for the position he holds, but is a thoroughly competent man.
He is about twenty-seven years of age, and has been in the army for the last years, counting his cadetship at West Point. He is member of the Fourteenth Regiment, and it was while he was fighting with the Fourteenth in the Philippines that he so distinguished himself upon the field of battle that he was made a captain of volunteers. Captain Miles has passed through Honolulu several times before, and there are doubtless a great many people in Honolulu who will be glad to know that fate has brought him this way once more. He was with the first expedition which was sent to the Philippines in 1898, on the City of Sydney.

Among the board of the Warren are Colonel A. S. Daggett, the Warren's commandant, and the Fourteenth Infantry, for whom a brigadier generalship is said to await in recognition of his inestimable services in China and elsewhere.

There are fifty-seven discharged soldiers aboard the Warren, and 465 soldiers on the disabled list. There are also 8 on guard duty and 12 men who belong to the hospital corps.

The bodies aboard number 107, among them being those of Lieutenant G. A.
Cooper, of the Fifteenth Infantry, killed in action; William P. Elliott, lieutenant commander in the navy, and Walter T. Stack, first lieutenant Forty-seventh Infantry. Three men died at sea a few days after the Warren sailed from Manila; two of dysentery, and one of consumption.

It is probable that the vessel will remain in port for several days. She is lying in naval slip No. 1. The complete list of passengers is as follows:

Colonel A. S. Daggett, Second Lieutenant G. W. Conchower, Thirtieth Infantry; D. W. Dudley, captain U. S. A.

AFTERNOON MEETING.

Francis Murphy Talks to Men at Central Union Church.

Francis Murphy spoke to men at Central Union yesterday afternoon and in a powerful exhortation to total abstinence from liquor caused many of his hearers to weep with him. Among the more striking sentences uttered by Mr. Murphy were the following:

This subject is always old and always new.

Hardly one but has seen some near one wrecked or drowned in the sea of drink.
The cup of fellowship is a bottomless pit.

Liquor darkens the palace as well as the hut.

All who begin to drink are volunteers.
No one is forced to enlist in the drunkard's ranks.

Since the apple was eaten we have blamed another.

Don't attack the saloon keeper. Help the drinker.

Christ is the gold cure for drink.

Be high-toned; be an aristocrat.

The gospel of Christ makes people have carriages to ride in.

Spending money in saloons is gratifying selfishness.

Your mother's looks were rays of sunshine.

Her eyes still watch you.

The liquor question is for you to settle alone.

The poverty that goes with drink is dark as hell.

Don't live on the doubtful side of life.
When a man takes the pledge tell him he will keep it.

Boost up the reformed man. Tell him he's all right.

Throw out the life-line. Love is a saver.

When Mr. Murphy asked for pledge-signers after prayers by Messrs. Coats and Coleman of the Young Men's Christian association, many hastened to the table by the platform. The church was well filled with boys, youths and men.

SAILOR BADLY STABBED.

Michael Hoolan Supposed to be the Assailant.

William Ogden, a sailor, was removed from a swipes joint near Relief Camp No. 1, at Kakaako, about 11:15 o'clock last night by Mounted Patrolman Pearce, and taken to the Queen's Hospital, where it was discovered that he was suffering from an incised wound of the left cheek.

Early in the evening several sailors had assembled at this joint, and after drinking considerable trouble broke out. Policeman Pearce heard their cries, and going to the scene, found Ogden with the blood pouring from a jagged wound in the cheek, extending from a point near the left temple to the chin. Eye-witnesses of the affair say Ogden was stabbed by a sailor named Michael Hoolan.

Hoolan was arrested and taken to the police station, where he was charged with assault with a deadly weapon.
When searched, an ugly looking Jackknife was found upon his person, but examination of the knife failed to discover it could be found. Hoolan denies the charge, and his denial is substantiated by the wounded man, who claims that he does not know how he received the injury, and that he had never seen Hoolan before.
